Injured When Steering Gear Broke

The accident occurred on Wednesday in the Fellows way as Mr. and Mrs. Warden and their daughter, Olive, were returning from Boston. The fact that the car was proceeding at a slow rate of speed prevented a more serious accident and only the wet and slippery condition of the road prevented the car's being brought to an immediate standstill.

Mrs. Warden was taken to the Lawrence Memorial hospital in Medford where several stitches were taken in the wound. She was able to return to her home on Pasho street on Thursday. Neither Mr. Warden nor his daughter who were riding in the front seat suffered any injury.

Lecture by Count Luckner

On the evening of Friday, April 19th, at 8.15 in the auditorium of George Washington hall, Count Felix von Luckner will give his famous lecture on the subject, "Sea Raiders of a Friendly Enemy."

The story which Count Luckner has to tell is probably the greatest romance of the World War, and harks back to the days of the Elizabethan freebooters. At the outbreak of the war he ran an old sailing ship, disguised as a Norwegian fishing vessel, through the Allied blockade and before the close of the war sank 500,000 tons of shipping. Throughout this series of adventures exploits he never took a human life, but treated his prisoners as if they were his guests, and invariably deposited them safely on shore.

Count Luckner is a splendid lecturer, with a tremendous voice, which can easily be heard in the largest auditoriums.

No admission fee will be charged for this lecture, but tickets may be secured on application to John H. Dye at his office in George Washington hall.

BAPTIST CHURCH ANNUAL

Reports Read and Officers Elected for Ensuing Year Following Supper Served by Philathea Class

The annual supper and business meeting of the Baptist church was held Wednesday evening in the church vestry with about one hundred members present.

Supper was served at half past six by the Philathea class. The menu included cold ham, potato salad, scalloped corn, rolls, Washington pie and coffee. The table decorations were handsome bouquets of snapdragons, the gift of Harold Livingstone.

The business meeting was called to order by Moderator Colver J. Stone and prayer was offered by Deacon Caldwell.

The treasurer's report was read by Clara W. Norton, showing the finances of the church to be in a satisfactory condition. The clerk, Clinton H. Stevens, reported that the membership of the church was 164, the same as a year ago.

A report of the various societies were given as follows: Ladies' Benevolent society, Mrs. Joseph Holland; Men's Brotherhood, Elmer Philbrick; Senior Christian Endeavor society, Mrs. Herbert Otis for Miss Jane Wetterberg; Intermediate Christian Endeavor, Marjorie Billington; Junior Christian Endeavor, Mrs. Herbert Otis for Elizabeth Brown; World Wide Guild, Mildred Dennison; Ladies' Mission Circle, Mrs. Mary S. Jackson; Home Department of the Sunday School, Miss Edna Todd; Sunday School, Perley F. Gilbert; Collectors, Arthur S. Wilbur; Auditors, Seldon Billington for Miss Edith Keirstead; trustee of the Bailey fund, Perley F. Gilbert; Barreca class, Herbert Otis. Mr. Gilbert reported 20 officers in the Sunday school and 161 members; 136 in the Sunday classes; 12 in the home department; and 13 in the cradle roll. The average attendance is 94.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Philathea class for the excellent supper and to Mr. Livingstone for the flowers.

When the pastor was asked to speak, Rev. C. Norman Bartlett responded taking as his theme "Capitalizing Our Church," showing how the members would take a more earnest interest in their church if they invested more of their money as well as of themselves in its work.

On the motion of the clerk, Clinton H. Stevens, it was voted to appoint a committee with the pastor as chairman to call on inactive resident members of the church and report to the standing committee.

Herbert Otis reported for the nominating committee and officers were elected as follows: Moderator, Colver J. Stone; clerk, C. H. Stevens; treasurer, Clara Norton; standing committee for three years, Clifford Dunnells and Jesse S. Billington; deacon for three years, Curtis Wilson; auditors, Charles A. Stone, Seldon Billington; super-

Period dresses from nations which have had the most influence on costume, dating from 2000 B. C., and chosen for their beauty in line and color, together with a bewildering array of costumes for the woman of today, chosen for the same reasons, made a pageant well-named "Art in Dress" given at the November clubhouse Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the art department.

The proceeds from the entertainment will be added to the Mrs. James E. Smith Scholarship Fund, which will enable some talented young person to study art.

Miss Alice C. Jenkins, chairman of the Art Department committee as well as of the committee on the entertainment, presided at the meeting and described briefly the development of dress beginning with the savages first desire for decoration as he smeared his skin with colored earth, later decking himself with colored ornaments and then protecting himself from the weather with the skins of wild beasts. Interesting descriptions of each costume and its period were given which added to the spectators' appreciation and enjoyment.

The first drawing of the curtain, managed with precision by two Wooden Soldiers in striking costumes of black and white, revealed an Egyptian in tunic and mantle with her two attendants. A choice piece of antique East Indian block print with the famous "Tree of Life" was used as a background, together with a wall hanging showing the globe, wings of the vulture, and the conventionalized cobra, symbolical of Ra, the god of the Sun and preserver of life.

The Byzantine costume with rich drapings of velvet was followed by the Gothic costume with its distinctive pointed eaves repeated even in the printed cap, and next by that of the Renaissance. A suggestion of American Colonial period was seen in the Dutch 17th Century costume with its small waist line and large hips.

The Louis XV period with its motto of "All for pleasure" was well represented by two dancers in costumes of purple and crimson with lace ruffles and powdered wigs who gracefully executed the steps of the minuet.

Each number was accompanied by appropriate music and when all had been shown on the stage, the complete pageant moved slowly toward the hall in order to give the audience a better opportunity to view the costumes in detail. The costumes, purporting to be historically correct, were made by members of the art department and were evidence of the members' creative artistic ability.

The second part of the program was given over to a fashion show from the shop of William Filene's Son's Company, Boston. Their representative, Miss Ainsworth, said that the fashion tendency today was toward the ensemble and the ability to "buy beauty."

This she said is not difficult in any good shop, the problem being to correctly express the wearer's individuality by good art. A variety of costumes for young and old,

THEATRES

METROPOLITAN THEATRE
Richard Dix, the star of "The Vanishing American", "The Quarterback", and many other successes, makes his debut on the audible screen in Paramount's all-talking screen version of the well-known play, "Nothing But the Truth", coming to the Metropolitan theatre on Friday. The advent of Richard Dix in talking pictures is an important one, for it brings one of the most popular players in Hollywood into a form of entertainment particularly suited to his talents. It will be remembered that Dix was a popular stock actor before entering the movies and his screen personality for which he is well known, is greatly enhanced by his clever use of dialogue.

One of the supporting roles is played by Helen Kane, a musical comedy star. Making her screen debut in "Nothing But the Truth", Miss Kane who is a clever comedienne, sings a particularly tuneful number called, "Do Something". Miss Kane is also a popular Victor Recording artist.

"Nothing But the Truth" tells the story of a young stock broker who wagers $100,000 that he can tell the truth for twenty-four consecutive hours. As can readily be imagined he has his hands full, gingerly extricating himself from one tight squeeze after the other. But he persists, despite the fact that he almost loses out on the girl he loves; a fact that gives this picture excellent entertainment value.

This week's stage show, "Say It with Music" is headed by the ever-youthful Ted Claire, as master of ceremonies, and his Met Syncopators. It is a John Murray Anderson production based on the works of American composers, including Victor Herbert and others of equal repute. The cast is headed by Charles Irwin, well-known comedian who has been featured in some of the biggest stage hits in the past fifteen years; then there is Henry Garden, former soloist of the Rosy Gang; Stedler & Rose, a dance team who offer their own interpretation of a rag doll dance; Sammy Krevoff, acrobatic tap dancer; Margaret Crawford, soprano; Ada Synajko, violinist, and the fast-stepping Foster girls complete the cast.

After many weeks of squabbling, Arthur Martel and Arthur Geissler have finally decided to settle their dispute with weapons of their own choosing—"Organys, Orchestra" which will be a harmonious battle of music to the finish. May the best man win!

And don't forget Ted Claire's nightly "Whoopee Shows" at nine o'clock every evening, except Saturday and Sunday, are now under way and a good time is had by all. You will see new faces and acts, and all request numbers are in order, provided, of course, you give Ted sufficient time to arrange his music. If any know of anyone that is talented have them get in touch with Ted and he will sponsor them at one of his nightly parties.

SHUBERT THEATRE
Helen Kane will head the cast of twenty principals and a large dancing chorus of Arthur Hammerstein's latest musical comedy "Good Boy" which will have its local premiere Monday, April 15th, at the Shubert theatre. "Good Boy" comes to Boston direct from an eight months' run at Hammerstein's theatre, New York.

Others in the cast are Borrah Minevitch, Vivian Hart, Dan Healy, Charles Hearn, Sam Hearn, Frances Dewey, Al. Gold, Violet Gillett, Lester Bernard, Boo Phelps, George Djimos, Tom Chadwick, Minevitch's Harmonica Rascals and Virginia Case. A chorus of Broadway dancers, ninety per cent of them reported as able to claim beauty laurels, have been trained by young Busby Berkeley.

Otto Harbach, Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, and Henry Myers have evolved the book of "Good Boy". The first collaboration of Messrs. Harbach and Hammerstein 2nd was "Rose-Marie". Others have been "Sunny", "Golden Dawn", "Song of the Flame", and "Desert Song". Mr. Hammerstein 2nd recently added "Show Boat" to his list of achievements. Henry Myers first came to attention several years ago with his "The First Fifty Years."

Herbert Stothart, Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby are the composers of the score, music and lyrics. Mr. Stothart has been composer of Arthur Hammerstein productions for the past seventeen years and is musical director of all Hammerstein shows.

MAJESTIC THEATRE

"Noah's Ark," the huge spectacular picture, about which many stories have appeared in recent months, has now been released by Warner Bros. and will be seen at the Majestic theatre, Boston, beginning on Monday, April 15. The story of "Noah's Ark" is by Darryl Francis Zanuck and was directed by Michael Curtiz. It was more than three years in production and is the most ambitious picture that Warner Bros. have yet made. The settings occupied thirty-eight acres, and thousands of people were employed in the flood scenes, as well as in the events which occur in the sequences depicting modern times. The cast of "Noah's Ark" includes Dolores Costello, as star, with George O'Brien and Noah Beery, Louise Fazenda, Guinn Williams, Paul McAllister, Nigel de Bruiler, Andres Randolph, Armand Kaliz, Myrna Loy, William V. Mong, Malcolm Waite, Noble Johnson, Otto Hoffman and Joe Bonomo.

"Noah's Ark" is not entirely a Biblical story. It is true there is a certain amount of symbolism in it, showing how the heart of man has changed little through the five centuries which intervened between the Flood and the Great War. The story begins just before the outbreak of the war and the victims of a train wreck, on reaching Paris, find the conflict is on. Then they are carried into the tumult of the war. At one point a bomb hits a building where they have taken refuge and they are thrown into the cellar. There a Chaplain begins to tell them of Noah and the Flood and as they are carried back to the ancient time, the story is made a reality.

In making "Noah's Ark" Warner Bros. have used Vitaphone most effectively. There are some passages of speech, but the fascinating role played by Vitaphone is in the effects through the flood and the scenes preceding it.

Protecting Paint

By adding a half pint of oil of cedar to each gallon of paint one may combat the very annoying curiosity of flies and gnats to find out for them selves if the wet paint is really wet. Some painters prefer to use oil of citronella in smaller quantities. The effect is the same. The insects will avoid the fresh paint because of the odor.

Helena's Beginning

In 1864 Helena, Mont., was founded by a band of prospectors headed by John Cowan. At first it was called Last Chance Gulch, as they had been looking for gold all through the spring without success and considered this their last chance for that season. On June 15, 1864, an abundance of gold was located.

Ginseng in Commerce

Nearly all ginseng grown in this country is shipped to China for medicinal use. The industry depends entirely on the Oriental market. Ginseng is consumed in negligible quantities by the Chinese in this country and the plant has practically no value in the United States or in other countries outside of China.

Whale's Yield of Oil

The amount of oil which can be taken from a whale depends on the individual whale. The sperm whale yields from 5 to 145 barrels of oil averaging about 25 to 30 for cows and 75 to 90 for bulls. In 1861 there was a record of a whale yielding 274 barrels of oil.

He's Right

The marriage application issued in the District of Columbia among other things asks whether there is any relationship between the applying couple meaning relationship by blood or marriage. One prospective benedict became confused and answered: "Loving."

Fierce Animal Combats

Ram fighting and buffalo fighting is extensively practiced in some parts of India. The shock of two rams meeting in full charge is terrific and there is small doubt that the idea of the ancient battering ram was derived from witnessing these combats.

The Way of Man

A contemporary remarks that we are not much good at preventing accidents, but we are grand at probing them after they happen. It is hard to see just what or whom to probe before the accident, however.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Don't Pout

Things are not always going to go just right. You must expect ups and downs, just the same as anybody else. But sulking or pouting never made a bad situation any better. It only makes it worse. Grin and bear it.—Grit.

New Menace

Usually it is the hard-fightin' hound that is a menace, but a California lady was run over and her neck broken by a dog running away to escape trouble. All extremes are dangerous.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

By the will of Mrs. Esther Byers made public this week several public bequests are made of great interest to Andover. The most important is that of $40,000 for an Art Museum to be under the control of Abbot academy but free to the entire Andover public. Others are the income of $2,000 for care of lot in West cemetery, income of $3,000 toward care of Christ church building, income of $5,000 toward care of West church building.

Thomas Rhodes has installed a gas engine for use in his bakery and for freezing ice cream.

The first dandelion of the season was brought into the Townsman office by Peter D. Smith.

Missionary pastors opened auspiciously on Monday evening at the Seminary. Lectures were given on Tuesday by Prof. Smyth on the "Ideal of History", Professor Hinks on "Revelation and the Bible", Professor Day on "The Ordering of Worship", On Wednesday Professor Ryder spoke on "The Holy Tradition before the Gospels", Professor Hinks upon "God the Infinite Spirit" and the Holy Father" and Professor Arnold upon "The Collection of the Old Testament Scriptures". The lectures on Thursday were by Professor Platter upon "Primitive Christianity", by Professor Hinks on "Man the Sinful Child of the Holy God" and Dr. Gates on "The History of Israel before the Time of David". Other speakers were Rev. William E. Wolcott, Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore, Rev. Charles H. Oliphant, E. S. Tead, Principal A. E. Stearns of Phillips academy and Rev. W. T. McElvyn of Boston.

On Monday evening the rooms of the Andover club were the scene of an extremely happy gathering when the wives of the members of that organization entertained the club. An exquisite lunch was served partly by the ladies, partly by Rhodes. The ladies served from chafin dishes set in various parts of the room on tables prettily decorated with bunting, the colors being blue, pink, lavender and yellow. The ladies who had charge of these tables were Mrs. Charles L. White, Miss Mary Poor, Miss Alice Jenkins, Mrs. David Shaw, Mrs. A. E. Hulme, Mrs. C. E. Abbott, Mrs. E. W. Pitman, and Mrs. Howell F. Wilson. As the guests came into the room, they were ushered to the reception committee consisting of Mrs. George H. Poor, Mrs. John N. Cole, Mrs. Andrew McTernan, and Mrs. Frank E. Gleason. The ushers were Mrs. Frank H. Messer, Mrs. David Shaw, Mrs. A. E. Hulme, Mrs. Charles L. White, and Miss Alice Jenkins. Partners were chosen for whist by means of colored butterflies. These were in charge of Misses Sarah White, Dorothy Wakefield, Margaret Cole and Marion Cole.

Essex County Pomona met with Andover Grange on Thursday at their hall in the West Parish. Members were present from Amesbury, Salisbury, Merrimack, West Newbury, Rowley, Topsfield, West Boxford, North Andover, Haverhill and Methuen. Granges to the number of 175. The forenoon was taken up with the regular business of the order and the discussion of the topic, "How to Make Farm Life a Success." A turkey dinner such as the Andover ladies know so well how to serve was partaken of by all with evident appreciation. The program for the afternoon was: Song by the Grange; reading, Frank Hardy; song, R. A. Watson; paper, Mrs. S. Bailey; singing, Andover Grange quartet consisting of E. F. Abbott, J. F. Knight, C. L. Bailey and R. A. Watson; reading, Mrs. P. E. Cook of Methuen Grange; paper, E. W. Boutwell, duet, J. F. Knight and R. A. Watson; paper, Mrs. Ella S. Morrill; song, J. F. Knight; paper, Mrs. F. M. Foster; singing by Grange quartet; reading, Fred O. Wheeler of Methuen Grange.

On Wednesday morning the hearing which was postponed from January 28 in regard to viewing North Main street from the Shawshin river to Elm square and, if deemed advisable, to straighten, widen, and relocate the bounds, was held before the County Commissioners. Among the speakers were John E. Smith, Selectman B. F. Smith and Samuel H. Boutwell, Henry W. Barnard, Timothy Howard, William J. Crowley and Daniel Collins. Selectman Samuel H. Boutwell thought it would be a wise thing to do the work now as it will cost much more to do it a few years from now. The commissioners were then requested to view the street in question which was done when the meeting adjourned. They said that they would make their decision later.

The Easter services at the Free church were as usual in keeping with the day. The pulpit was handsomely decorated with flowers and plants the work having been done by Misses Annabel Richardson, Cecelia Kydd and Mary Gorrie and Charles Meyers. At six o'clock the children's concert was held which was under the supervision of J. Newton Cole, superintendent of the Sunday school. The primary department, under Miss J. Gertrude Jackson, assisted by Miss Ethel Clark, aided much in making the concert a success. At the close of the concert seeds were distributed to the children.

The afternoon service at the South church on Easter Sunday morning was held for the children of the Sunday school. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Mary Alice Abbott and Miss Erving read "Calm Is the Morn". Among the children who took part were Madie Erving, Marjorie Jaquith, Winifred Symonds, Dorothy Jaquith, Nettie Carrie, Anna Holt, Edna Francis, and George Richardson, duet "Hark, Hark, My Soul" was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Foster.

Copyright Rules

Registration made in the copyright office of the United States does not in sure protection in European countries because the United States is not a member of the International Copyright union. On the other hand, upon obtaining valid copyright in one of the countries belonging to the International Copyright union, such as Great Britain and France, protection is also secured in the other countries belonging to the union.—Washington Star.

Presidential Anger

"Even President Washington was said to have sometimes dashed his hat upon the ground, and the second President was famous for his gusts of temper," according to Henry Adams in his History of the United States. He then quotes as follows from one of Jefferson's letters: "I have heard, indeed, that my predecessor (John Adams) sometimes decided things against his council by dashing and trampling his wig on the floor."

Scaling Down the Overhead

It used to be said that whenever a Scotsman got to London he never went back home—except to fetch his brother. That notion is out of date, according to Lord Dewar, who remarked recently, "There are not nearly so many Scotsmen traveling down to London as there used to be. They get born in London nowadays to save the fare."

SCIENTISTS are agreed that the best motor oils come from crude oil containing paraffin. They speak of such motor oils as having a "paraffin base." Socony Motor Oil has always been manufactured from paraffin crudes. Motorists have discovered its superiority without being told the fact. More motorists in New York and New England buy Socony than buy any other brand.

Socony Parabast Motor Oil is refined from the finest paraffin crudes—particularly suitable for motor lubrication. By controlling every process in the manufacture of our oil, we know it is refined exactly to that point which gives your motor the protection it needs.

TIME TO CHANGE YOUR OIL

Have a Socony dealer drain off the old winter oil and flush your crankcase with Socony Flushing Oil. When he has poured in fresh Socony Parabast Motor Oil, start your motor and listen! The smooth, quiet operation of the moving parts means longer life for your car and a higher value when you come to trade it in.

"MOTHER'S ONLY RIVAL"

In the Land of Rubber Trees

The following extracts from a letter written to friends in Andover by a young man employed by the makers of Firestone tires in Akron, Ohio, as a superintendent of one of their rubber plantations in Africa, may be of interest to some of the Townsman readers:

Liberia, the land of rubber trees. Monrovia, the cannibal suburb. February 25, 1929.

You have been on the list of those to whom I should write for some time. I have much appreciated the cards that you sent way out here to "darkest Africa".

A fortunate conspiracy of the elements which have no regard for human obligations and the limitations of time, have carried me to a place to which the associations of romantic youth have always attracted me, but which I had renounced all hope of seeing.

until about a year ago. Now nine months have vanished into the tropic past and never did time pass more quickly.

I like the work very much and have learned a whole lot about the rubber business. Am surely working for a very progressive company. Have had two wonderfully interesting trips into the interior recruiting labor, and at times on these trips, this country seemed fantastic. Captured another baby elephant only two weeks ago, and still have it in a nearby native camp. Killed a boa constrictor a few days ago that was sixteen feet long, which attacked my horse as I was riding through the bush. Have had a lot of experiences that have made a thousand pin pricks go shooting up and down my spine. Witnessed many horrible tortures of the natives in the interior, been hypnotized by a "Devil Dancer", and have seen cannibals eat the partly cooked flesh of their own people. Of course this isn't done on the plantation or by the partly civilized tribes near the coast, only deep in the bush. All in all this experience is a great education for me other than what I'll learn about rubber.

All the home-kind of food that we get comes in cans except the fresh meat we get sometimes from the large boats that stop at Monrovia. Of fruit we have an abundance and a great variety. Butter pears (called avocados at home) are most plentiful and are relished the most excepting perhaps what is considered the greatest delicacy of all, hearts of palms. This is the core taken from the very tip of the coconut or oil palm right where the new leaves form. For each heart, weighing about seven or eight pounds, a noble palm tree has to be sacrificed, but here in the bush they don't miss them. We slice and fry them like banana fritters. The taste is between that of hazel nuts and asparagus, only finer and sweeter than either. The company has built good roads all over the plantation which are about thirty miles long and nearly everyone has his own car. There have been over 30,000 acres felled, cleared and planted to rubber trees, in the last three years and they are still going strong. Americans are producing some of their own rubber.

About a dozen wives of the men are here and all are a good bunch of sports. We have some good parties. We hear the "Voice of Firestone" every Monday night and the Company talks back and forth every night with the Akron, Ohio, office. I don't miss the snow. Shall be home next winter and enjoy a five months' vacation.

My candle is out. Yours to a kinder.

Must Be Right to Endure

I am not discouraged. Things will right themselves. The pendulum swings one way and then another. But the steady pull of gravitation is toward the center of the earth. Any structure must be plumb if it is to endure, or the building will fall. So it is with nations. Wrong may seem to triumph. Right may seem to be defeated. But the gravitation of eternal justice is toward the Throne of God. Any political institution which is to endure must be plumb with the line of justice.—From the last speech of John P. Altgeld.

Fifty-One Nations and All Forty-Eight States Represented in Enrollment of Harvard University

Fifty-one nations and territories, as well as all of the 48 states of the United States, are represented in the enrollment of Harvard University, according to the records of the University on geographical distribution. Massachusetts, as always, leads the list with 3112 students in all departments of the University out of a total enrollment of 8110. Of these, 1691, or more than half, are enrolled in Harvard college.

Of the 287 students enrolled from outside the borders of the United States, 73 come from Canada, but of these Canadians only three are enrolled in the college. This confirms the belief that Harvard is a center for graduate study for the Canadians. China is second on the list of nations represented, with 38 in all departments of the University. Hawaii is third with 20, England and Japan tied for fourth place with 15, and Porto Rico fifth with 12.

New York state is the nearest rival of Massachusetts, though falling far behind with 1119 enrolled. Of these, 509 are in Harvard college. Third in the number of enrollments is Pennsylvania with 404 altogether, and fourth Ohio with 322. The states in fifth, sixth and seventh places are very close together, New Jersey, Illinois, and California in that order, with 251, 250 and 239 students respectively. The remaining 41 states have all less than 200 students apiece.

The fifty-one nations represented include many small and far off lands, and their representatives are always few in number; this list of nations changes greatly from year to year. Korea sent one student to Harvard college, and two the Graduate school of Arts and Sciences. Persia is represented by a student of medicine, Syria by a student in Harvard college. The various graduate schools attract most of the foreigners who come. Eight students from China, three from India, and two from Turkey are enrolled in the Harvard Engineering school. Fourteen Canadians, eight Chinese, five Russians, three Japanese and three Frenchmen are enrolled in the Graduate school of Business Administration.

"Tung Oil for Paints, Not for Tongues"

For centuries the use of "Tung Oil" has been common in China in the manufacture of "Chinese Lacquer". About thirty years ago Tung Oil was introduced to the paint and varnish manufacturers of the United States. Since that time its use has grown tremendously until it is now a very vital factor in the paint and varnish industry. The United States alone is about 15,000,000 gallons. It is of value chiefly because of its penetrating and waterproofing qualities.

Until this year, the only source of Tung Oil was in the interior of China. Tung Oil is the juice squeezed from the Tung nut which grows on a tree about twelve feet high. The Chinese method is very crude and produces an oil of comparatively poor quality. From the source of supply the oil is transported three thousand miles down the Yangtze river to Hankow. The oil is contained in paper lined, uncovered baskets holding about twelve gallons. The five layers of baskets on the Chinese junk may contain Tung Oil and the next layer may contain a bean oil, or rape seed oil or perilla oil. When the journey has ended there is invariably some of the other oils mixed with the Tung Oil. However, if the Oil contains less than five per cent impurities, it is called FAQ. In other words, Fair Average Quality, and must be accepted by the purchaser.

A few years ago, Benjamin Moore & Company, one of the largest manufacturers of paints and varnishes in the world, conceived the idea of growing Tung Oil in this country. The experts scoffed at the idea, but the company continued with its plan. After an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000, and several years of effort Benjamin Moore & Company have at last succeeded in producing Tung Oil in the United States. They have a plantation of 2400 acres near Gainesville, Florida, which is now bearing fruit. Nearly 100,000 pounds of nuts were gathered in 1928.

Benjamin Moore's Florida-grown Tung Oil is so much different from the FAQ Oil of commerce that it might almost be classed as a different oil. It is much paler in color and is absolutely pure, instead of having a permissible impurity of five percent. It is just one more example of the extreme foresight of Benjamin Moore & Company, and indicates their ability to produce paints and varnishes of unequalled excellence.

Roseland Is Ready for Gala Opening

Roseland-on-the-Merrimack, under the management this year of William F. Wholey, representing the Balmoral Associates, Inc., is primed for its gala opening on Thursday evening, April 18. Patrons of this most popular ballroom will find many changes in effect under the new management. Several hundred dollars have been expended upon beautifying and redecorating Roseland. This is particularly true of the orchestral stage, which has been entirely made over. In these days of the popularity of Spanish art and architecture, the glories of old Seville have been brought back. The orchestra will now be seen against a background of an old Spanish villa, with its wide door set between great pillars and with beautiful red and yellow awnings set above the door and windows.

The ceiling has assumed an altogether different aspect, with a thirty-foot silk cloth center piece and half circles of the same material at both ends of the hall. Red and yellow rope streamers run from the center piece to the four sides of the dancing area, forming a beautiful canopy for new lattice work sides. For the comfort of its patrons, Roseland has done away with the cold breezes that came from the river and west sides by building new walls at the bases of both exposed places. A new soda fountain is an additional feature.

The Jersey Jive-Jacks will provide the musical program at the opening dance on Thursday, April 18, and again on Friday, April 19. Check dancing will prevail both evenings and then, on Saturday, April 20, the peerless Mal Hallett will be host to a tremendous throng. It will be the policy of Manager Wholey to have check dancing, with the Jersey Jive-Jacks, every Wednesday and Saturday, reserving Friday evenings for famous bands. Free automobile parking will be provided for all.

What Is Cancer?

According to Prof. James Ewing, one of the best known authorities on the subject, cancer is a large group of diseases and not one particular disease. All resemble one another in a single important respect. They are characterized by an unrestrained and unrestrained local lump or sore and most of them extend by becoming larger and sending out to other parts of the body minute particles which start new growths.

Very few well informed students of cancer now hold the opinion that cancer is a general, or constitutional, disease. It is held that the trouble is local at first. Something goes wrong with the regulating mechanism of the body, with the result that the unwholesome persistent growth begins and, once begun, it cannot stop itself, but must be destroyed or removed.

Cancer may occur anywhere on the outside or inside of the body. It is always little to begin with. When it occurs on the outside it is much easier to discover in its early stages. It is at this time that effective action against the growth is most likely to result in a cure.

As has frequently been said, the trouble is then no more serious than a splinter. After particles of the cancer have found their way to other parts of the body and given rise to new cancers the situation is much more serious. To cure the patient it is necessary to find out where these new centers are and then they must all be removed.

At this next clinic, to be held at 10.00 a. m. on April 16th at the Lawrence General Hospital, 1 Garden Street, Lawrence, a consultant from Boston will be present.

Reas—Another argument with your hubby. What's the trouble this time? Freda—The same old thing. I'm right and he won't agree with me.—Sidney Bulletin.

"Sorry, old top, but my car's out of whack and we're going to have to walk to the golf course."

"No, sir! You don't catch me walking a mile to play golf."—Kansas City Star.

Too Many Unsolved Crimes

Seventy out of every one hundred crimes committed in Suffolk county are never solved by the police. This much is said to have been discovered by the Harvard crime survey which is going into the local situation exhaustively and hopes to issue at least a preliminary report next fall.

The fact that two out of three criminals succeed in outwitting the police is a matter for serious reflection. It has been hinted, unofficially, by some one in touch with the Harvard survey, that higher salaries and higher intellectual standards for the police will be recommended. But there are many factors besides the police mentality to be considered. Up-to-date facilities for communication and pursuit are essential to police success. Numbers are another element. The work of controlling traffic has taken so many men that the communities hesitate to add the numbers needed for patrol duty. The police have handicaps to overcome in their efforts to protect life and property.

People of criminal tendencies will perhaps be encouraged by the revelation of police percentages, and this is unfortunate. But the underworld keeps a rather accurate gauge of its chances at all times and a matter which is news to other people is possibly old stuff to the crooks.

Incidentally, the fact that 70 per cent of crimes are never traced does not mean that 70 per cent of criminals keep on in their evil-doing without getting caught. Nearly all of them commit one crime too many. The great majority of felons fall into the clutches of the law before they are through.

The Middle-Aged Worker

The case of the middle-aged worker in search of employment was recently examined from many angles at a meeting of the Taylor Society in this city.

Statistics presented by Roswell F. Phelps of the state department of labor and industry, seemed to indicate that there is little discrimination against middle-aged men seeking jobs. In fact, study of a certain group who had applied for positions indicated that more men between 45 and 54 found employment than in any other age group.

But figures do not describe the suffering of the individual who has to fight against the objection that he is too old to be hired. Nor can it be doubted that a considerable number of concerns close their doors to men of mature age and experience, giving preference to younger men. In exercising such preference they may be inhuman to an important class of applicants and at the same time unfair to themselves, since a liberal sprinkling of gray hairs among a body of workers means that steadiness, acquired skills and ripe judgments are present in the organization.

Old-Fashioned New England Supper

The Woman's Guild of Christ Church will serve an Old-Fashioned New England supper in the parish house on Saturday evening, April twentieth from five until seven-thirty. The name "Old-Fashioned" is a most appropriate one for this particular supper as it brings to mind those generous meals of an age when tables were loaded with food and calories were not the chief topics of conversation. And how much more satisfying and appealing the menu was than the lonely lettuce leaf with a few vegetables going through the huddle system on its centre, braced by a pair of undernourished looking sandwiches, which are sometimes set before us.

And how far more friendly and cheering than that dreadful day which we hear is approaching when one's meal will consist of one pale pellet containing vitamins A, B, C, and D, combined, each, like Sally Waters, sitting in a saucer.

One feels much sympathy for the little girl who said, "But I want many things on my tray."

At this Old-Fashioned supper one may feel assured that there will be an abundance of delicious food for everyone and that no pale pellet will be substituted for a piece of real pie.

Music, played during the supper will be an added attraction so one can see what a splendid opportunity this will be to bring one's family or a party of friends to enjoy an appetizing supper with music near home and have the extra satisfaction of knowing that there is no cover charge.

Menu: Baked ham, beans, brown bread, cabbage salad, relishes, rolls, coffee and all kinds of pie including, cream, apple, coconut and lemon. Tickets may be purchased from members of the Guild.

Deadly Dry Raids

Enforcement of prohibition by federal agents has cost 190 lives, so far. This is a high price to pay for a thing which isn't accomplished even when it's paid for.

Of the persons killed, 135 were civilians and 55 were agents. Assistant Secretary of the Treasurer Lowman, who announced the figures, says that in every case where a prohibition officer used a firearm to cause death, a coroner's inquest or a trial exonerated the officer.

The country, nevertheless, has another morsel of bitter fact to chew over, with respect to its great moral experiment. Even President Hoover, who is endeavoring to obtain a more thorough enforcement of the dry law as well as more general obedience to it, is evidently shocked at the figures given, and has delivered a sharp warning to dry agents not to abuse their authority. The citizen must be spared unlawful search of his premises. The privacy of the home must not be invaded. Weapons must not be brandished, nor must they be fired except in self-defence.

It will be interesting to see what headway can be made toward rendering the anti-liquor laws effective through the employment of fair means only. If it can't be done that way, the demand for modification or repeal will gain many supporters.

Editorial Cider

Monday of this week the newspapers carried large headlines to the effect that Sunday was the hottest April 7th on record. Tuesday the headlines proclaimed the fact that Monday was even hotter, 90 in the shade. Lo and behold! Wednesday we have a real, winter snowstorm—almost a blizzard, in fact. Just another example of typical New England weather. If variety is the spice of life, as the saying goes, the people of this section should have no quarrel with the elements.

The announcement this week of the resignation of James C. Souter from the Pomps Pond Committee will be received with genuine regret by the townspeople. He has been recognized as one of the moving forces on this board, and has given much of his time and knowledge to the improvement of the community beach. He has been largely instrumental in awakening public interest in the undertaking which has resulted in appropriations by the Town for the excellent equipment now installed at the beach. His work has been well done as the popularity of Pomps pond today will prove. The entire community is grateful to Mr. Souter.

The plot of the play is based on the loss of a diamond necklace, belonging to Mrs. Goringe, a guest of Col. and Mrs. Jardine. All the family, the servants and other guests, including a young army officer and a wealthy Captain Mowbray, are held under suspicion, a situation which provides ample opportunity for humor, satire and some fine philosophy.

The cast is as follows:
Captain Mowbray, retired Edward Weeks
Colonel Jardine, retired Herbert Oslin
Lieut. David Cairn Homer Wadman
Mrs. Jernigan, a detective Edward Bradford
Charles, a footman Burton Whitcomb
Mrs. Jardine Mrs. Herbert Oslin
Isabel Kirke and Vicky Jardine, her daughters Elizabeth Brown and Phyllis Eaton

Miss Potts Mrs. C. N. Bartlett
Mrs. Goringe Margaret Manning
Tickets are on sale by members of the club.

Issues Call to Ninth Annual Convention

Mrs. Robert L. DeNormandie, President of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, announces that the Ninth Annual Convention of this organization will be held at the Hotel Newtuck, Holyoke, Wednesday and Thursday, May 22 and 23, 1929.

At its regular monthly meeting in Boston the Board of Directors considered plans for the Convention and decided to accept the cordial invitation received from the Holyoke League of Women Voters, Mrs. William E. Towne, president, and the Holyoke Chamber of Commerce, to bring the Convention to that city, and authorized the call to the Convention.

The directors declare in the call that the political education of women in the years since they have had the ballot has deepened the meaning, the opportunities and obligations of their suffrage. The challenge to them to vote responsibly is more insistent today, though less clamorous than in 1920.

Therefore the members of the League are called to the Convention to weigh the responsibility of women toward government, and to prepare to take part in the political life of the day.

Interested alumnae have made possible the decoration of the recreation room in Draper Hall. Flowered curtains are now in the windows, new chairs have been bought, and old ones re-covered, new pictures have been supplied to the old ones, and the room is assuming a more home-like aspect. The greatest share in the gift which makes this much-appreciated change possible comes from the Boston Abbot club. With two attractive lamps and the gift of the class of 1928, a fine orthophonic victrola, the recreation room is a pleasant sight in the evenings, when the girls gather there after dinner.

Two events to which the school looks forward are the day scholars' entertainment on Saturday evening, April 13, and the appearance of France Arlie Duprat and A. Duprat on Tuesday evening, April 16.

Polly Francis, '29, head of day pupils, is in charge of the Saturday evening party. The annual entertainments of this group of students have always been characterized by the hard work and cooperation of all, and by the finish of the performance. Because this is a particularly busy year, the day scholars have shown great ingenuity in avoiding unnecessary burdens for themselves.

The evening will be devoted to dancing, and all students are to be either "boys" or girls. The committee in charge of favors, Charlotte Osgood and Ruth Shulze, will give to the "boys" a little necktie which will alone mark the difference in costume. For all students, even those who will give a demonstration of the minutet, and the waltz, will wear modern dress. Marguerite Neville and Barbara Folk are to be in charge of refreshments, and Betty Southworth and Emelyn Wright are to provide the music, aided by the victrola.

Friends of the school are reminded of the pleasure in store at Davis hall, when the singers and interpreters of French provincial songs will give their program. The program was printed in last week's Townsman, and also the statement that the charge for admittance will be fifty cents.

S. of V. Auxiliary Plans Whist
The Ladies' auxiliary to Walter L. Raymond camp, 111, Sons of Veterans met Wednesday evening in G. A. R. hall. Plans were made for a whist party to be held Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall with Mrs. James H. McCord as chairman. She will be assisted by Mrs. Michael A. Burke, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Mrs. Annie Kent and Miss Mary Corey.

Refreshments were served after the business meeting in charge of Mrs. James McCord. Mrs. Edward Y. Lindholm will serve as the delegate from the local auxiliary to the state convention to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hotel Somerset, Boston. President Mrs. William H. Navin and Past President Miss Anna Neas will also attend.

John F. Sly of Harvard University to Address League of Women Voters

At the next meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters to be held April 16, at 3.15 p. m. at the Phelps House John F. Sly, Ph.D., professor of history at Harvard University, will speak on "Adapting the Old Form of New England Town Government to the Needs of Today."

Dr. Sly has specialized in the field of local government and is an authority on the New England town both historically and in its changing forms due to the increasing complexity of modern social organization and civic demands.

He has been closely associated with Professor Wm. B. Munroe, former head of the Department of Government.

He has studied the newer experiments being tried in New England towns and written exclusively on these newer forms. He is also an excellent and interesting speaker.

Dr. Sly's subject should be of vital interest to every Andover voter, and it is hoped that League members will make a special effort to be present at this meeting.

All Even

Alfred Harris and Edward Sullivan evened the bowling series now in progress by reversing the decision of last week and defeating Duncan Bisset and Harold Johnson by twelve pins in a five-string match on the Essex alleys. Tuesday night. The match was close and even more thrilling than that of the week before, when the latter team triumphed by 27 pins.

The Harris-Sullivan combination is now managed by John Sullivan, Sr., and has taken on a new lease of life as a consequence. The new manager, himself a bowler of some repute, has instilled a spirit in his team that makes it much more formidable than before.

It is rumored that one of the Bisset-Johnson team was heard to remark that the opposing Sullivan were to replace the junior Sullivan in actual competition. This had not been verified, however, up to press time.

Next week the all-important rubber match is to be staged. At first it was thought that neutral alleys should be obtained, but as both teams call the Essex alleys their home grounds, the match will very likely take place there. The date has not been settled definitely, but will be announced soon. Both camps are confident of victory. May the best team win.

Fires

On Monday at 1.35 p. m., Box 4 summoned the fire department to a grass fire on land of Richard Abbott off Chestnut street.

The fire department answered a call from Box 4 and proceeded to Greenwood road, West Andover at 2.05 p. m. Monday to extinguish a brush fire on property of Freeman Abbott. Firemen from the Central station were called to aid the Ballardvale department in a two-hour battle with the flames and underbrush.

A visit was made to Wildwood road later in the afternoon by Chief Charles F. Emerson of the fire department to investigate a brush fire in that section. Arriving at the scene of a large brush fire Chief Emerson was stopped by a woman, Mrs. Michael Ched, who said that her husband was dying after having been struck by an unknown man. He later found the man lying on the barn floor exhausted. Chief of police Frank M. Smith was called into the case. Checovitch told the officials that he had been struck twice in the stomach by a man and rendered unconscious and that later he dragged himself to the barn. Dr. W. Dacre Walker was called to examine the man but found no marks of violence.

Officials were of the opinion that the man had become frightened and exhausted after fighting the brush fire single handed and was forced to give in when he found the fire getting the better of his efforts.

Good and Bad Hawks

The biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture points out that there are a number of different species of hawks, and the food habits of all are not the same. Some prey almost entirely upon small mammals, such as mice, ground squirrels and rabbits, whereas the food of others consists chiefly of birds.

The bird eaters should be killed at every opportunity, according to the survey, but it is equally important that the others be spared, for they do a great deal of good in destroying small animal pests of the farmer. The bird-eating hawks include the Cooper hawk and the sharp-shinned hawk and these species prefer to capture their prey by swift, fierce darts from the concealment of thick foliage.

Big Family

The stork had brought a new baby girl to the family and father came smiling to the breakfast table to announce to the four assembled small ones—Sam, Sally, Lois and David—that there was a tiny new sister upstairs.

Four small, grave faces turned to him, as he said cheerfully: "Isn't it great to have five children? A big family is so much more fun than a small one. I don't believe there is a happier family anywhere than ours."

"There's the orphans' home," said five-year-old Lois thoughtfully.

Miss Helen Smith of Cuba street spent the week-end with friends in Boston.

Smith and Dove Wins Championship

Smith and Dove and the Norwegians Americans of Boston played what proved to be the deciding game of the State Soccer League last Saturday in Boston. The game ended a draw, two goals each. This gave the local team one point which was just what it needed to clinch the championship. The Boston eleven tried very hard to prevent the Andover team from winning this game and the League championship but the Smith and Dove team showed the form that carried it along last fall to within striking distance of the top and came away with the necessary one point. Considering the fact that the Smith and Dove team has been idle all winter, this was a creditable victory, for the Boston Boys are able to continue right through the winter and thereby keep in condition. There is one more league game for the Andover team to play to complete the schedule but the result can change the league standing of the local team which is now the champion of the Northern Division of the Massachusetts State Soccer League.

After winning the championship Saturday the Smith and Dove team went to Lawrence Sunday afternoon and played the St. Augustine eleven on the playground. While the Mill boys did not have to travel at top speed to defeat the Saints they were compelled to show clever football before the game was over and their two goals came after pretty combination. The Lawrence team put much more vigor into their play to try to make up for the superiority of the champions and their enthusiastic dashes contrasted with the smooth finish of the Smith and Dove eleven. The first half ended with the score blank, apparently the Andover boys were tired after the game of the previous afternoon. It takes some energy to play two games in one week-end after being out of it for three months. In the second half, however, the Mill boys got things going and cleverly scored two goals.

Local Fire Department Is Kept Busy

Sunday evening the local fire department was called to Andover street near the Bradlee school to extinguish a brush fire.

Again at 9 a. m., Sunday evening the department was called to a grass fire in the vicinity of Allen's farm on Woburn street.

At 12:15 p. m., Monday Box 7 was sounded for a fire on Lovejoy road. After answering the alarm it was found necessary to call for help and the Andover department was summoned. The fire was in the thick underbrush and burned over ten acres before it was under control.

At 7:15 p. m., Box 7 again sounded for a brush fire near the residence of John Gollan on High street. The fire had gained much headway before the department was summoned but it was soon extinguished with chemicals.

The local fire department had its share of brush fires on Tuesday. Early in the evening the department was summoned by Mr. Curtis on the north side of the B. and M. road to extinguish a brush fire.

The men battled the flames over two hours. It is believed somebody is setting the fires. This week the local department has been summoned to six brush fires.

Good Job

A young lawyer had a foreign client in police court. It looked rather black for the foreigner, and the lawyer fairly outdid himself in trying to convince the magistrate that his client was innocent.

The lawyer dwelt on the other's ignorance of American customs, his straightforward story, and enough other details to extend the talk fully 15 minutes. His client was acquitted. In congratulating the freed man the lawyer held out his hand in an absent, though rather suggestive manner. The client grasped it warmly.

"Dot was a fine noise you make," he said. "Thanks. Gooby."

Metals Found in Scotland

The precious metals exist in several Scottish counties. The ancient Celts made their wonderful bronzes, and other trinkets of native gold, probably gathered from the beds of streams. In the sixteenth century the metal was extensively mined in Lanarkshire. Penant describes a nugget weighing one and a half ounces which was discovered on Crawford Muir. Some years ago, a local writer, Doctor Watson, collected a fair amount of gold in small grains from the Wanlockhead district.

BOND TREND UPWARD DESPITE TEMPORARY SETBACK FROM HIGH MONEY

As Commodities Go Up Over a Period of Years Bonds Tend to Decline and As Commodities Fall Bonds Tend to Rise — Money Rates High Because Stock Market Is Getting Undue Proportion of Credit Supply

"Any man who studies fundamental conditions must recognize that this is an excellent time to buy good bonds. In comparison with most stocks they are grossly undervalued. And yet many investors have such a bad case of speculative fever that they are passing up this golden opportunity. They would rather dump overboard their good, sound, underpriced bonds and buy shaky, overpriced stocks. They appear to have lost their investment perspective entirely.

"To be sure, the increase in interest rates of the past six months has depressed bond prices. That was only to be expected. However, interest rates will not always remain high. Fundamentally the banking position is sound. The present 'squeeze' in money is a direct result of over-speculation in the stock market. That situation will sooner or later correct itself, and money rates will again decline. Bond prices accordingly should resume their underlying upward trend. Of course, if the present high interest rates were due to commodity inflation that would be another matter entirely, but there is no such commodity inflation.

Commodity Prices Determining Factor in Bond Market

"A study of the price trend of bonds over a long period of years clearly proves that commodity prices are the underlying factor in the broad movements of the bond market.

Interest rates also, are highly important, but may be regarded as temporary rather than permanent factors. Moreover, interest rates, over a long period of time tend to move in accordance with commodity prices. Occasionally they move contrary to them, as in the past year, but such variations are temporary rather than fundamental.

"The commodity price trend in the long run is the chief influence on interest rates and also on the bond market. When commodities, that is the things that make up the cost of living, increase in price, bonds decline. That is because bonds are in all vital respects the same as money. They are receipts for money loaned at a specified rate of interest to be returned at a fixed date in the future. Now money is valuable only for the things it will buy. Similarly, bonds are valuable only for what their income will buy.

Ultimate repayment of principal is of course, assumed, and in the meantime they fluctuate in market value according to the purchasing power of their coupons in terms of the cost of living. In other words, as commodities go up over a period of years bonds tend to decline, and as commodities fall bonds tend to rise. Other factors enter into the situation, such as the temporary stringency in the money market, changing investment habits, etc., but over a period of time bond prices tend to move in the opposite direction from commodity prices.

"Statistics show that average commodity prices reached their high point in 1920 and have since been declining. There have been temporary upward spurts, but the broad trend has been toward lower levels. There is every indication, however, that this gradual decline will continue for some time to come. Mass production, increased operating efficiency of industry, and other cost-cutting methods make it possible for more goods to be produced and sold at lower prices. There are, of course, individual commodities which will run counter to this trend, but the general average is tending downward. This means that the future purchasing power of bonds should be greater and market values correspondingly higher.

Trend of Bonds and Commodities in the Past

"Bonds saw their highest prices about the year 1900. Commodities were then at very low prices. From 1900 to 1920 the decline in bonds was gradual, but almost constant, down to the middle of 1920 when the average of twenty active investment bonds reached about 69 and the yield nearly seven per cent. During this twenty year period commodity prices gradually advanced reaching their highest point in July, 1920.

"From July, 1920 to October, 1922, a sharp reversal took place. Commodities declined drastically and bonds rose rapidly reaching a price of 89 August, 1922. Then in 1923 there was a temporary upward movement of commodities and bond prices temporarily declined to around 83 in March of that year. Since March, 1923 commodities have resumed a gradual downward tendency. At the same time the average price of bonds advanced, and in December, 1927 reached a high point of 99.5. Commodities were fairly stable in 1928 without any noticeable trend either way. Bonds, however, have been adversely affected by artificially high interest rates since the middle of 1928 and have declined from the high point of 99.5 to the present figure of around 90. The underlying trend of commodity prices still appears to be gradually toward lower levels.

Present Bond Depression Temporary

"The depression in bond prices which we are now experiencing appears to be a temporary affair rather than a fundamental long-swing movement. As such it offers unusual opportunities for investors to buy good investment bonds at attractive yields. Money rates are high now, not because commodities are high, requiring more money to produce and distribute them; but money rates are high because the stock market is getting an undue proportion of our credit supply, for the time being. Already there are signs of faltering in this mad speculative movement. While certain good stocks, with long-pull prospects based on specific factors will doubtless sell higher over the next ten years, the great majority of speculative stocks which are now absorbing too much of the available credit supply, and selling at fictitious prices will be scaled down. Then interest rates will fall, bonds will once more become popular and will sell again at their rightful prices, based on their increased purchasing power. This is apparent because of three fundamental factors:

"1. The broad movement of commodities is still gradually downward despite increases in certain individual items. This means greater purchasing power for bond income and enhancement of bond values in the future.

"2. Interest rates may continue high for a while longer, but should react sharply when real liquidation occurs, as it must, in the stock market.

"3. People will come out of this hectic stock market after the smash with a chastened spirit and an eagerness for investments which offer safety rather than risk.

"Business by the Babsonchart is now six per cent above normal compared with four per cent above, a year ago at this time."

Jewish Walling Place

The Place of Walling is an inclosed place near the mosque of Omar in Jerusalem, where the Jews congregate every Friday to lament the fall of Israel and pray for its restoration. The wall in front of which they gather is 156 feet in length and 59 feet in height. The nine lowest courses of stone consist of large blocks. Above there are 15 courses of small stones. Some of the lower courses may have belonged to Herod's temple.

Definition of Words

A dialectical word is one derived from a dialect, such as the Scottish word "fey," which means "prescient." An obsolete word is one no longer in use, such as the term "yolept," meaning "called." A foreign word is one which has not yet been incorporated into another language. An example would be "helmeveh," meaning "homesickness."

Power of Colors

Advertising men know a great deal about color psychology. Purple and royal blue lend an air of aristocracy to printed matter. That is why you often find expensive automobiles or high-priced securities presented to prospective buyers in elaborate circulars printed in these colors and in gold, which is also aristocratic. Red, the advertising men say, is a selling color. It has a tendency to excite the acquisitive instinct in men and women. Candles in red boxes sell best. Expensive perfumes sell marvelously in purple, gold and blue containers. A very red dress on a beautiful young woman will often bring the proposal that was withheld for months when more quiet colors were worn, these advertising experts, all men, tell us.—Capper's Weekly.

White Ant Lumber's Enemy

There is one insect that takes heavy annual toll in lumber, says the American Tree association. This is the termite, or white ant. These insects penetrate into the wood of floorings and walls and foundations. They eat their way through the wood, honeycombing it, and weakening it.

Preparations

Mrs. Jones—Mother writes that she will be here tomorrow for a long visit.
Mr. Jones (to young son)—Tommy, didn't you ask me the other day to buy you an air gun, a trumpet and a drum?

Tommy—Yes, dad.
Mr. Jones—Well, I shall bring them tonight.—TH. BHS.

Constitutionalist

"Are you a constitutional lawyer?"
"I am," answered Senator Sorghum. "You thoroughly understand that noble document."
"I won't say I precisely comprehend it," said the little girl who was patiently waiting on her own porch for him to speak to her. When she could keep quiet no longer she called out "Mr. D—, quit joking me!"

To Sew for Hospital

The Shawsheen village Woman's club will sew for the Lawrence general hospital next Monday afternoon from two to five at the homes of Mrs. Leslie N. Herrick, Arundel street; Mrs. Albert Fischer, 34 Enmore street; Mrs. H. Garrison Holt, Canterbury street and Mrs. Taylor, William street. As this is a worthy cause, those in charge hope to see a large number present at the most convenient place near your home.

New Police Shanty

A new shanty has been erected for the police department this week by George M. Henderson. It is along the same lines as the building destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The only change is in the windows which have been shortened. This does not impair the vision in the least and will lessen the danger of breakage. The windows in the old building were within a foot of the floor.

Thimbles Win Four

The Scissors and Buttons rolled to a stalemate Tuesday night on the Thimble club league. The Scissors won the second string and total by 23 pins. Miss B. Higgins rolled 100 and 270 and Mrs. R. Jovett, 96 and 278.

The Pins were three too good for the Needles the latter winning the last string. Mrs. J. Brown hit 88 and 263 and Mrs. H. Stephenson 92 and 257.

The Thimbles cleared up the Spools, the latter losing the last string by a pin. Mrs. F. Winkley led the Spools with 96 and 274. Mrs. G. Flint hit 100, 101 and 96 for a triple of 297 and Mrs. E. Walker rolled 99 and 277.

Bright Little Raymond

Raymond had just begun to go to school.

One morning his teacher was trying to impress upon her pupils the idea of self-reliance. It so happened that a certain small boy had been late on this particular morning. His excuse was that his mother had overslept, for gotten to call him, and breakfast was late. Hence the lecture on self-reliance.

"You have fathers and mothers to work for you now," concluded the teacher, "but what will you do after you're grown up? Who will work for you then?"

Raymond's hand shot up.
"Our wives, of course," he replied.—London Tid-Bits.

Health Secrets

More and more we are learning to rely upon nature, rather than upon medicines, for health. If we all followed nature's laws, most of our serious diseases would disappear. Certainly the so-called "diseases of civilization"—affections of the heart and nervous system—would be abolished. Sunlight, fresh air, exercise, right food, avoidance of worry, and the prompt repair of any injury or defect—these are practically all anyone needs to maintain perfect health.—Dr. Fred H. Albee in the American Magazine.

Tallow Trees

In Texas from time to time expert men have been made to cultivate the Japanese tallow tree. This tree bears nuts that contain a rich tallow like oil that has been found very valuable in the manufacture of high-grade varnishes and other much-needed products.

The climatic and soil conditions in that section of Texas are apparently well adapted to the growth of this curious tree, and the experimental gardens have been supplying farmers through that region with young trees with which to experiment.

No Kidding

Mary Katherine, a golden-haired miss of three, is very fond of a neighbor, Mr. D—. She always expects some attention when he is at home and she is seldom disappointed. But one day Mr. D— sat on his porch, apparently absorbed in his own affairs and did not see the little girl who was patiently waiting on her own porch for him to speak to her. When she could keep quiet no longer she called out "Mr. D—, quit joking me!"

Never Take Medicine,

Pharmacist, 84, Urges

In one of the oldest parts of Rome (one of the oldest cities in the world) is to be found the oldest pharmacy in Italy, presided over by the oldest pharmacist of Italy. Founded in the Sixteenth century by monks, it was operated under religious auspices until 1730, when it came into the possession of the Prato family, which has conducted the pharmacy from that day to this—200 years in a single family. The store furniture and all the equipment are centuries old. Presiding over this venerable establishment is the Piazza della Maddalena is Dr. Reale Scatletta, who at eighty-four years of age is rounding out his sixty-second year of service there. Doctor Scatletta works 14 hours daily, as he has for three-score years. So vigorous is Doctor Scatletta that one would think him twenty years younger than his actual age. Asked for his formula for longevity and good health, Doctor Scatletta gently replied that his first principle is never to take medicine! He drinks a half liter of wine and smokes two cigars daily. "Eat heartily and take a bath daily" is another of the counsels of this veteran pill dispenser in an establishment which might well be one of the sights of the Eternal city.

Secret of Silk Was

Long Kept in China

Although silkworms are now cultivated in many parts of the world in order to obtain the lovely product which they make, at one time the secret of producing this cloth was known only in China, where it was jealously guarded.

Raising silkworms was a great industry in China as many as 2,600 years before the Christian era. Try as they might, other nations were unable to learn the secret of making the fine cloth. But, according to the story, a faithless Chinese princess finally betrayed her country by carrying with her to India some of the eggs of the silkworm and the seeds of the mulberry tree upon which it fed, concealed in her headress. From India the secret gradually spread to the west, although it did not reach Europe until the Sixteenth century.

Old Records in Danger

The parish churches of England, long the hunting grounds of persons interested in genealogy, and their agents, have suffered so much from such hands that steps are being taken to save their records. These church records go back to the reign of Henry VIII, and until 1840 they were the only records of births, marriages, baptisms and deaths. Constant handling of these records, says The Pathfinder Magazine, has damaged them. Not only that, but unscrupulous genealogists have not hesitated to tamper with them, making alterations to suit their desires. Church officials declare that most of the persons coming to examine the parish records are money seekers. A large proportion of them are Americans.

London Mayor Busy Man

The lord mayor of London presides over one square mile of territory, for that is the extent of the "city." With in its boundaries are situated the bank of England and other great financial institutions. There are some 1,800 policemen detailed to guard the district, so criminals give it a wide berth. The lord mayor receives as much pay as the President of the United States and is the highest-salaried magistrate in the world. In one year he attended 130 public dinners, 85 receptions, 35 meetings and delivered 1,100 speeches.

Birds Endanger Airplanes

The United States War department once more has called attention to the danger of collision with birds by night-flying airplanes. In recent maneuvers in the dark a formation of observation machines encountered a flock of wild ducks. One bird hit the wheel of Capt. Ross G. Hoyt, spinning it violently. Had one or more of the birds struck a propeller the consequences might have been serious.—World's Work.
